You know, there was sleep, but somewhat you wake up beaten up, internally...

Wants and needs, wants and needs...

I think, again, what is (should be) at the center of activities...

Making a mistake to focus on activities... instead, it should be love, probably self-care —

Life has a tendency to force you into structuring the time — and I don't think it's a bad thing, it actually provides safety — which again, is a double-edged sword...

Sometimes COMMUNITIES just don't happen. But this (toplap.si) still means a lot to me.

So we will keep pushing it.

Oh as Tom Cruise says in Top Gun "Don't think, just do!"

I'd love to relinquish control
(tbh, I don't have any control).

I hope we get more queer.

more femme, more becoming-animal,
more irrational. WE = I = WE = THEM,

the other, and machine/machinic ...

Yesterday, some invisible curtain came down and everything went black. The day had a structure until then so appearance of efficiency persists... but so it goes.

I listened to some of my older tracks and in couple of places it gave me shivers. So... that's somewhat encouraging. — Indeed, that's what I need.

resistance against death

I feel things are moving very slowly
I am moving like a snail or sloth

need to remind myself of nature:

what is sad music, really?

... or happy music?

music full of humour,

or seriousness?

this morning's slow-moving melody lines and chord progression
on a warm-sounding piano keys
with mix of violins and synth pads
and finally... sounds of children playing...

... brings tears

into a cloudy morning sky.
