

1. JULY, 2024

enchanted by music
immersed into soundscape loosing oneself, to find oneself.

and then...
gratitude
for a life.

tiny, fleeting speck
in the grand scheme
unimportant
but so important
within the zoom-in.

2. JULY, 2024

struggling

to find space

for motion

revealing

pieces

of flesh

made of

desire and shame.

3. JULY, 2024

luxuries and privileges of life

challenges
of heart

pain
anger
depression

can art (-making)
soothe the soul?

4. JULY, 2024

at some kind of crossroads trying to find sense within emotional entanglements a paradox and false dichotomy feelings and thoughts and sounds of a day at noon aimless because of all the blood flowing within and without unstoppable in time and power life is emotional cobweb trying to find sense

5. JULY, 2024

hurt weakening constructive will emerging it's possible to continue immediately reflexive:
such sensitivity.

(calling it "drama!"
takes me back — a memory of parenting fails)

let me find a footing
again, in this climbing adventure striving for a wild ride
back down.

6. JULY, 2024

PERFORMANCE DAY.

playing dark symphonic drones
for Matija Ferlin's

Staging a Play: Antigone (2018)

and taking care of his head mic.

'll be back in the evening.

7. JULY, 2024

if I take it
with all the humour
I can muster — I guess
she can say
anything.

it doesn't have to be trauma processing (all the time or at all)

also,
apricots are sexy AF.

8. JULY, 2024

first,

whatever gender non-conformity this is, it's not to be suppressed second,

I, or my expression, don't need to be "liked" in order to thrive third,

not everything is suitable for any occasion, but fear and secrecy are poison for a relationship

15. JULY, 2024
(my shame on your power)

looking down
seeking your gaze
accepting the Other
open my face
seeing my body
wearing their words
dressed in appearance
makeup and heels
desire controlling
power and shame
becoming becoming minor, untamed

16. JULY, 2024

achievements.

reminding myself to stop for at least a bit
and look, and think,
and congratulate myself
and the team...

... and only then
move on, and forward.

What a messy
messy complex.
our bodies.

between known, unknown.

eros
philosophy
techné.

20. JULY, 2024

"carnal desires"

to be pushed away
while our sexuality
is complex AF

feelin overwhelmed by questions concerning my own gender—eroticism random deny

it's all connected
all intertwined

frozen images,
and sensual touches

21. JULY, 2024

an imaginary movie
a sequence of scenes environments, smells, sounds contrasting switching from stillness to
frantic action, motion blur.
silence again
in a forgotten corner of the city.
all unknown expiration dates.
here we are
and we'll be soon gone.

22. JULY, 2024

yearning
for self-discipline
while failing to see disciplined struggle
courage and work
which is grounding
sustaining and inspiring

26. JULY, 2024

past conundrum

(yesterday's or from deeper past) spirals into complex

of painful adventure

when surfacing alight

when sinking back to darkness searching for god within

28. JULY, 2024

(quotes/notes)

can we escape
the imposition of the self?

Speak their endless names...
names without bodies.

the soloist refuses to be one she is already a swarm its 'Unmündigkeit' is unprotectedness, what is to be ungoverned

(thanks to Gerald Raunig)

29. JULY, 2024

sending words out
with attached sounds

is it me at the center or the art-making?

struggling to escape the market by creating own safe space of mutual support

a long path of continuity, dedication, and persistence, awaits me _____ and...

it's the journey, the becoming which matters the most _____ _____ right?

30. JULY, 2024

nothing

and everything

new tools

makes us excited

so do new clothes

a change in appearance

have we become cyborgs
with the fig leaf?

31. JULY, 2024

it seems inappropriate
to think about 'soul'
these decades
of cyborgian era

how to bring philosophical-critical understanding of subjectivity of present into the mundane
daily talk?
